WHAT IS VoIP (Voice over Internet Protocol)

The ability to make and receive phone calls, using the Internet means:

- * Cheaper calls and free phone calls between sites
- * Increased efficiency with lower integration and support costs
- * Cost-effective features to add remote and mobile applications
- * Using both existing and new connections with virtually no capital cost

Internet Telephony is for you if you:

- * Want to reduce your call charges
- * Want a predictable cost structure that fits with changing business needs
- * Are a small/medium size, single site business
- * Want to develop more flexible working – home, remotely or other locations
- * Are setting up a new location and want to save on infrastructure costs

Internet Telephony can make a real difference to your overhead costs and, increase operating efficiency. You don't need to pay large capital costs or change the way you do business to take advantage of talking for less or even for free!

CASE STUDY

Document Print & Presentation Solutions

I work in a busy sales department, often having to do two or three things at once, the nature of print and presentation solutions often involves me talking to customers on the telephone whilst I am carrying out other tasks. The Voice Active TX2R Bluetooth is absolutely indispensable and after 6 weeks of using it, I couldn't imagine being without it. It has made my work so much easier and allows me the freedom of moving around the office without having the inconvenience of wires to untangle and unplug every time you need to leave your seat. Voice Active were extremely helpful and their customer service is second to none, I would not hesitate to use them again.
